$350,000 Fire Guts SSF Plants, Daly City Equipment Dispatched

Flames, fed by intermittent explosions of drums of paint, thinner and other chemicals, swept through an industrial structure in South San Francisco, Sunday, with damage estimated at approximately $350,000.

The blaze, believed to have started in the Soric Bucket & Barrel Company, which occupied part of the structure, was out of control for a couple of hours. Only the absence of any wind kept it from sweeping into other nearby structures and razing an entire industrial block on Railroad avenue, fire fighter officials said.

The flames, feeding roaringly on hundreds of drums of chemical and stockpiles of styrofoam rubber products, belched huge, smothering quantities of black smoke into the sky. The smoke billowed up so thickly that for a time it looked like the mushroom blast of an A-bomb from as far away as Skyline boulevard.

The blaze was discovered by Fire Captain Bill Fraumeni. He saw it from the front porch of his home, turned in the alarm, and sprinted to the scene of the blaze. He received burns to one hand, a foot and his face, but needed only first-aid treatment.

Frank Zamorand, 663 Edinburgh avenue, South San Francisco, was treated by standby ambulance attendants for smoke inhalation.

Two units of Daly City fire fighting equipment were dispatched to help fight the blaze. One of these units, together with spray nozzles of a South City unit, averted serious damage to the South San Francisco Lumber Company when they quickly extinguished a fire which had spread to the lumber yards across the street, according to Assistant Chief A. R. Brauns. He said the fire's origin had not as yet been determined. The alarm was tapped in at 4:49 p.m.

George Petrovffski, 19, 762 South Mayfair avenue, Daly City, received severe burns to his back when the roof of one of the buildings collapsed, pouring hot tar on him. He had been in the area on business and was a volunteer aiding the

He Didn't Like Breakfast, So— Wifie Shoots

He didn't like the breakfast she cooked for him and she didn't like his threats—including one to "go out and eat breakfast with a girl friend"—so, she shot him where his breakfast would have been.

At least, that is the one of the principal factors unraveled by Pacifica police in the shooting of Ernest J. Koblos, 43, 1480 Linda Mar Blvd., Labor Day by his wife, Irene, 38.

The disagreement over breakfast waxed hot after two days of constant arguing, and Irene put the climax on the story when she stepped into their bedroom, loaded a .38 calibre revolver, pointed it at her husband's stomach and pulled the trigger, according to the police report.

"It loaded it," she told police, "But, I didn't think it would shoot."

Ernest was removed to the Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame and Irene was left, temporarily, at home with the couple's sons, 13 and 11 years of age. However, friend husband, from his bed of pain in the hospital is demanding that "you look her up," police said.

The woman had claimed she shot in self-defense. She said her irate husband started the Labor Day off by throwing tomatoes at her head—whether they were over-ripe or not was not in the police report — and when he threatened to throw a chair at her she went and got the gun.

Inspector Robert Greer and Officers Ray Shipley and John P. Murphy of the Pacifica Police Department investigated.

Youthful Vandals Damage Terra Nova High School

Damage, which may run into hundreds of dollars, was done to the new Terra Nova High School in Pacifica by seven youths, five boys and two girls, over the Labor Day weekend, according to Pacifica Police.

A youthful "rat pack" bunch descended on the new school grounds and building and attempted to use the school's swimming pool which was still filled with dirty water left over from construction work, police learned.

When they found it wasn't much fun to swim in the filthy water they apparently decided to play with fresh, clean water. They unlimbered the school fire hose, turned it full force on the newly laid floors of the upper decks and the interior halls, police said.

The license number of the auto in which they came and fled the scene after their "malicious mischief pranks" was obtained by Richard Snell, the

To Hirsute Or Not? Now It's Upper Lip Or Chin Whiskers!

To hirsute or not to hirsute has been in the hair of the Daly City Golden Jubilee committee for several weeks.

Some places a moustache is a sign of male superiority.

Not Daly City — Now!

It's taken second place to a full growth of luxurious chin whiskers but the upper lip hairy adornment is still in the running.

When "shave or shove off" edicts were issued by some wives because the males of their choice were growing beards for the Golden Jubilee contest, Oct. 7 through 14, City Dad Frank Pacelli, who is also chairman of the big "bash" committee, did some fast thinking.

So—to help save face, or a part thereof, the moustache contest was added to the beard growing competition.

"It's a mere compromise—the essence of a happy home," Pacelli said as he rubbed a smooth shaven chin—recent that is.

There are three classes now with prizes for beards on city employes, beards on John Q. Public and, for moustaches grown in peaceful co-existence with the female population.

ROARING FLAMES swept through a South San Francisco industrial plant out of control for several hours Sunday. The fire was so threatening that South City fire officials called for help from Daly City and two fire fighting units were dispatched to help fight the conflagration. Foam rubber and drums of chemicals and paint sent billowing smoke into the still air. In the lower photo are seen three fire fighters pouring water into a part of the collapsing building, caught by the camera as it fell. The men in picture, whose names were not available, for a time were caught by a wall of fire between the two buildings seen in the upper photo when their hose cutoff. They blasted their way to safety when the water came back on.

Sander Blows Up, Operator Badly Burned

Explosion of a sanding machine, which he was operating on a bowling alley, critically burned George Harris, 39, of 3015 Bayshore boulevard, Harbor Village, so severely Tuesday afternoon that he was rushed to Peninsula Hospital by ambulance.

Harris received second and third degrees burns over his entire body and face and at a late hour his recovery was problematical, South San Francisco firemen and attending physicians stated.

The exact cause of the explosion, which occurred at Brentwood Bowl, has not been determined at a late hour but firemen who responded to the emergency call reported that the sanding machine probably set fire to some resin, rsulting in the explosion.

The flash sent flames shooting up Harris' body, covering him entirely from head to foot. They were quickly extinguished but not before he had been severely burned.

The injured man is employed by Hiberg Floor Sanders Co., of Redwood City, according to hospital records.

Vacation Time Ends, Students To Troop Back To Classes At Local, Pacifica Schools For 1961-62

Quiet Please! Students To Start Fall Digging

THERE'LL BE A LOT of happy parents soon and plenty of teachers girding themselves for the fall, winter and spring job of imparting knowledge to the students and pupils of schools in the Daly City and Pacifica areas. Students at the Parochial schools started their classes Tuesday and those attending public schools will start trooping to edifices of learning throughout the elementary and high school district next Tuesday. That erratic line above the artist's concept of a student, you ask? Well, when you have to forget fishing, swimming and all other summer sports and get back in the harness of books and lectures, it really takes some hard thought, at least for the first few days or weeks.

More than 20,000 boys and girls of North San Mateo County public school districts and parochial schools either started school this last week or are scheduled to register at public schools next Monday, according to a compilation of estimated registration figures from various school officials.

Of this number, approximately 19,000 will be starting their 1961-62 school year at the public schools in Jefferson Elementary and Jefferson High School Districts and in the Laguna Salada Elementary School District, comprising eight schools in the Pacifica area.

Based on the estimated registration figures of the three public school districts, this will mean an increase of about 1,900 students over the registration last year.

The three high schools of Jefferson Union High School District, Westmoor and Jefferson in Daly City and Terra Nova in Pacifica, are expected to register 4,300 students, an increase of 734 over 1960, when 3,566 signed up at opening classes the first week.

With an anticipated registration of 1,250 in kindergarten classes in all schools of the Jefferson Elementary School District, Superintendent Richard Foster expects an increase of approximately 500 pupils throughout the district. He stated there would be about 8,700 pupils in the schools in classes from kindergarten through the eighth grade.

Westmoor High School, according to Suerintendent Ed Morgan, is expected to have 1,500 students for the 1961-62 school year, compared to 1,359 registered in 1960. Jefferson High, it is estimated, will have about 1,450 students compared with 1,308 in 1960, and Terra Nova High, the newly constructed school in the Pacifica area, will start its first year with an anticipated 1,350 students occupying the classrooms, shops and laboratories.

The opening of the new Terra Nova High for this school year does away with the necessity for double sessions which were in effect for Jefferson and Terra Nova students last year, Superintendent Morgan pointed out.

Although there will be no additions or extensions of the curriculum in the high schools of the district, there have been a series of faculty discussions on the teaching program for the year, Morgan said. We shall continue a good, solid and comprehensive high school program with concentration on upgrading the students rather than adding any new fields of study, he stated.

Terra Nova High, while not yet entirely completed, is now 93 per cent complete, which is a little better than Westmoor was when it was first populated by students in 1957, when the district had only 60 per cent of the furniture and equipment necessary for full classes.

All furniture and equipment for Terra Nova is ready for use, or in a few minor instances, ready to be installed, according to the superintendent. The gym and cafeteria are not as yet finished but the snack bar will be in operation. The shops will be open but not in full operation for another week.

The playfields are not yet ready for use and the Terra Nova football squad will hold its practice sessions at Westmoor High until such time as the football field can be brought to tip-top shape, Morgan said.

The roads will be a little rough for a time, Morgan said. This work was delayed some by a brief cutoff of water from the San Bruno water department, which held up the work on them for about 48 hours.

There will be no cafeteria in operation at Jefferson High this

Daly City Youth Swept To Sea At Thornton Beach

Caught in the relentless grip of a strong undertow, John Day, 16, of 556 Niantic street, Daly City, was swept out to sea and drowned Sunday afternoon off Thornton Beach below Palomar stables, in spite of desperate efforts of a companion to save him.

Day, another youth, Paul L. Bacigalupi, 7144 Mission street, and a large group of companions, both boys and girls, had been swimming out beyond the surf, according to Daly City Police Officer Richard Phillips.

Most of the others had returned to the beach when Day and his swimming pal, Bacigalupi, started towards shore. They had reached a spot about waist deep when Day asked for help. Bacigalupi grasped his wrist but the struggling boy was torn from his grasp and swept out beyond the surf in spite of all efforts to hold him.

The cries of Bacigalupi for assistance brought no response from the group of about 20 youths on the beach whom, police said, reported they thought the two were pulling a gag.

Daly City police, Coast Guard helicopter and volunteers combed the area but the body of the drowned boy was not recovered. No information as to the victim's parents or other relatives was available late Tuesday.

Too Fast Driving In Heavy Fog Piled Up 17 Autos On Skyline

Apparent utter disregard for red warning flares, coupled with heavy early morning fog, made the Skyline Freeway near Edgemar road a potential death trap and sent two commuter-motorists to a hospital for medical treatment early Thursday morning.

People rushing to work in San Francisco were either unable to see the flares in time to stop or were driving so fast they could not bring their vehicles to a halt in time to avoid crashing into cars which previously collided, Daly City and Pacifica police said.

The first crash occurred about 7:20 a.m., and set off a chain-reaction of additional crashes which strung into four separate accidents involving 17 autos within the mile-long stretch of freeway from Edgemar road to Westmoor avenue.

It took eight men from the Daly City police department and four patrolmen and Chief of Police Neil Tremaine of Pacifica to straighten out the tangled traffic. City bound vehicles were held up for about one hour and forty minutes. Some of the following traffic halted by police was diverted around the scene of the crashes over Manor Drive through Pacifica and then northward on the Coastshore highway for a time.

Thirteen tow cars were required to clear away the wreckage of battered cars strung out along the freeway. Many motorists fretting over being delayed to work in what had been a mad scramble of speeding autos could be thankful they escaped with their lives or minor injuries, police declared.

"If commuters racing to work would only realize that although the state speed limit is higher, mere common sense dictates slower speeds under bad weather conditions," officers in charge of clearing up the tangled traffic mess said. "On foggy mornings, such as we are having now, drivers should start for work at least ten to fifteen minutes earlier. Then they could drive at a maximum of 25 miles an hour through such view obstruct-

LAW IN ACTION

UNCONSTITUTIONAL LAWS

Two years before his term expired, President John Adams named John Marshall to the U. S. Supreme Court.

And two days before he left office, Adams named one Marbury a justice of the peace in Washington, D. C., one of the land's lowest judgeships.

Between the highest and the lowest judges, you can find out why the U. S. Supreme Court may hold a state or national law void.

Marshall swore in Thomas Jefferson as President. Once in office, Jefferson would not let his new Secretary of State James Madison give Marbury his commission. Marbury took his case to the Supreme Court, and Marshall's court held that Marbury should have his job.

But Marshall went on: the law passed by Congress, which let this suit start in the Supreme Court, violated the Constitution.

The Constitution says only cases which affect ambassadors and the states can be started in the Supreme Court. As a rule, all other cases must come up from lower courts.

This curb, Marshall held, meant that suits like Marbury's should not start in the Sureme Court. For Congress to give such cases to the Court went against the Constitution. So the act of Congress was void.

Such was the first case where the Supreme Court overruled Congress.

Said Marshall: The Constitution is supreme and is binding on all who act for the United States. It curbs and defines the citizen's rights.

Suppose Congress could trample the citizen's rights? Then, said Marshall, the Constitution would vanish, and Congress would rule supreme.

Hence the judges must uphold the Constitution over Congress. They must void all laws not grounded in the Constitution.

Said Marshall: "A law repugnant to the Constitution is void; and the courts, as well as other departments, are bound by that instrument."

Still the Supreme Court avoids constitutional questions where it can find other grounds for reaching a decision. For the court has a policy of trying to respect the power of the legislature (Congress), as well as the executive (the President) branches of government.

year. Only the snack bar will be available for the students. This was necessitated by the need to use the cafeteria for physical education classes, school administrators pointed out.

The increase of 500 pupils is expected to be reflected on opening day, Monday, when an anticipated 8,700 children will register for classes at the 19 schools of Jefferson Elementary School District, according to Superintendent Foster.

None of the pupils will have to be on double sessions due to the opening of the new Christopher Columbus School, the addition of six new classrooms at Benjamin Franklin, where junior high students, seventh and eighth grade, attend classes.

The district has added 62 new teachers and members to the administration and teaching staffs and two new principals will take over the administration of two of the schools. They are John Belfort at Jefferson Elementary and Mrs. Carol Dawson at Fernando Rivera.

In the Laguna Salada Elementary School District, comprised of eight schools throughout Pacifica's many community areas, expectations are 6,000 pupils this year, according to Robert Fizer, administrative assistant to Superintendent Fred Lucas. This is an estimated increase of between 500 to 600 pupils over last year's total.

There will be triple sessions in the kindergarten classes and double sessions in the third grades throughout the entire school system, although the opening of a new school, Pacific Heights, last year has helped alleviate the situation somewhat. Two new schools, Ortega and Cabrillo, both in the Linda Mar area, are in the planning stages and school officials hope to have them ready for use next year, Fizer said.

Class lists and programs will be posted for Laguna Salada pupils Friday. The cafeterias will open Tuesday, Sept. 12.

The Laguna Salada administration has added 31 new or replacement teachers to the academic staffs and now has a total of 208 certificated personnel, including administrative staff members.

Ford Fund Gift To Restore Lee Memorial Chapel

Allen W. Merrell (right), vice president of the Ford Motor Company Fund, presents a check for the first payment of the gift to Dr. Fred C. Cole (left), president of Washington and Lee University, at traditional June commencement exercises. The Lee Memorial Chapel will remain open to its thousands of yearly visitors during the restoration period.

LEXINGTON, VA — Restoration of one of the South's priceless treasures, the Lee Memorial Chapel on the campus of Washington and Lee University here, has been made possible by a gift of $370,000 from the Ford Motor Company Fund to the university. The chapel was built by General Robert E. Lee during his tenure as president of the university from 1865 until his death in 1870. It is here that General Lee and his family are buried. The chapel also houses a museum of Lee battlefield and family mementoes and a valuable art collection including original portraits of Washington Madison and Lafayette. Here, too, is the famous Recumbent Statue of Lee by Edward Valentine and Lee's personal office. Henry Ford II, president of the fund, said, "Our trustees believe it to be most important to maintain the Lee Chapel as a priceless spiritual and historic possession for the South and for the nation."

Your Garden

In many another state of the union, September arrives on a note of change. Garden activity begins to slack off and the end of the garden year is definitely at hand. Not so in California.

California's September marks a change of sorts, but not a slackening of the garden pace. On the contrary, our summer siesta ends and we prepare to go to work.

Sometime this month, the first indication of coming fall will fill the air, but don't be misled. The chances that fall's early days will bring any rain are almost nil. We get occasional drizzles, but none, usually that permit the gardener to get off with out watering. Guard against the tendency to anticipate rains and continue watering as you have done all summer.

On the planting scene, September ushers in a season of springlike activity. It is the best time for planting a new lawn; the time to plant perennials for spring and summer bloom; an excellent time to plant evergreens of all sorts; the month to plant annuals for winter color and bulbs such as Ixias, Freesias, Sparaxis, Ranunculus and Anemones, which like to go in the ground early.

In planting for winter and spring, the California Association of Nurserymen cautions us not to overlook the immediate future. The long wait for fall's big Chrysanthemum show is near its end and attention should be given to insure that the show will be a good one. If you failed to plant Mums earlier, plant them now. They're available in containers in full bloom at your nursery.

An early September feeding of Roses will help to keep bloom going into late fall. Water, of course, is essential to the bargain.

The soilwise gardener will start in late September to improve his soil. Manure and bonemeal — two slow, long-acting fertilizers — can be applied for winter rains to work in. Soil conditioners can be utilized to keep the soil loose and open.

All in all, you might say that September is more a beginning than an end. Whatever it is, it's surely no month so sit back.

San Mateo College Offers Classes In Pacifica Schools

College classes in the Pacifica area are being offered during the fall semester by the College of San Mateo. Through its Extension Day Division, the College has scheduled an accounting class at Vallemar School in Pacifica and a general psychology class at Sanchez School in Pacifica.

The accounting class which will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 will open Sept. 11 at Vallemar School. It will present the basic principles of bookkeeping during the first semester as an introduction to accounting principles. Analysis of accounting records will be considered in addition to the mechanics of their preparation. The class will carry four units of lower division credit transferable to any four-year collegiate institution. A year of accounting is required in all degree programs for a business administration major.

General psychology, the second class, will meet at Sanchez School on Tuesday evenings, opening Sept. 12. This class will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. and will carry three units of credit. An introductory course, the class provides basic information on human behavior as well as fulfilling a lower division requirement in all liberal arts programs.

Registration for both of these classes takes place in the classrooms on the opening evening. A fee of $1 is charged for each class. Students purchase their own books and supplies.

In addition to these, the College offers classes at Capuchino High School in San Bruno in oil painting, Gregg shorthand, personal and family finance, real estate principles, real estate investments, valuation, and management, securties for investment, conversational German, conversational Italian, and effective speech.

A complete schedule of the offerings is available from the Extended Day Division office or at public libraries. Further information is available by calling the College, DI 2-1421.

The structure, one-story frame and corrugated sheet metal, was 150 feet wide by 200 feet long and housed besides the Soric Company the Western Styrofoam Products Company and the Detner Company, a lettering and stenciling concern. The entire building and contents were rated a total loss by fire department officials.

Flames flared up again Monday and once more on Tuesday from the piles of foam rubber, which, although they had been well soaked down, retained considerable fire deep within them. Both days the South San Francisco fire department dispatched pumper fire trucks to soak down renewed flare-ups of the blaze.

THE LINES OF YOUR CAR

Ever notice the way in which the constant demand for more and more freight space has managed to change the lines of your car?

When it all started out more than 50 years ago, points out the National Automobile Club, a car was considered to be doing its duty if it just carried people from here to there. But the people soon wanted to take things along, and this called for a luggage rack on the running board, then a luggage trunk on the back, and eventually the building of that luggage trunk right into the body.

Small at first, the trunk has rapidly grown in size until today it accounts for some sweeping bumps and bulges where they never used to be.

San Francisco Now Owns Union Square Garage

Union Square Garage, the world's first underground parking facility, has become the property of the City and County of San Francisco, nine years ahead of schedule.

The garage was constructed in 1942 at a cost of $1,550,000 by the Union Square Garage Corporation under a contract with the city. In the 19 years the garage has been in operation it has paid off all construction bond indebtedness and realized more than $1,000,000 for the city in rent and taxes. Full ownership will increase the city's revenue about $100,000 a year.

Civil Defense . . . A Source Of Controversy

Civil defense has been a source of controversy for a number of years. Of late, with the deepening of the Berlin crisis, and almost any number of other developing crises the world over, interest and concern in our civil defense measures has boomed. As Newsweek says, in a lengthy feature article, there is a common theme: "What could be done, individually and collectively, to meet the unutterable horror of nuclear war?"

No one, obviously, can give a guaranteed answer to that question. But many and varied steps have been taken. A federal agency—the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization—is charged with broad responsibilities, and it has a substantial budget which probably will be increased. Other organizations work at local levels. Elaborate plans have been made for the evacuation of cities—though, it should be stated, a great many people think that the theory would have small reflection in fact, due to panic, street and road congestion, and the swiftness of attack. Individual homeowners have built something like a million fallout shelters, stocking them with enough food and water and other essential supplies to last for a week or a few weeks. A device is available for development which plugs into a home wallsocket and will warn of attack.

So far so good. "But," as Newsweek puts it, "one nagging feeling was hard to dispel. Did any of this really matter?"

That feeling is based on the supposition that nuclear war would mean the end of life on this planet. This was the theme of an extraordinarily vivid novel by the late Nevil Shute, "On the Beach," which was a best-seller and also became an extremely successful film. If war comes, this school of thinking holds, there can be no defense and all is over.

Yet, as Newsweek point out, there is another school which believes that adequate civil defense efforts can salvage something out of the ruin. It cites a computation made in 1959 by OCDM at the request of a Congressional Committee. It was theorized that we would be attacked with 263 nuclear weapons yielding a total of 1,446 megatons—a megaton equaling 1 million tons of TNT. Some of the results, as estimated by OCDM: About 23 million Americans (based on 1959 population) would be killed the first day, and 26 million more would die of injuries. Twelve million homes would be destroyed. Each bomb would contaminate thousands of square miles of area, and people without proper shelter would later die from radiation. Food and water supplies in the target areas would be destroyed for the most part, and fires would blaze in fields and forests. The whole ecology of nature would be upset. Infectious disease would become rampant, and take a great toll of life on its own hook. And the effects would be long-term indeed. For instance, in some areas crops could not be grown for a century.

The next question, of course—without going into the many pros and cons concerning the value of fallout shelters and other measures—is whether the survivors, whatever their number and location, could move to insure our national survival. Some leading authorities think it could be done—somewhere, somehow, on some sort of scale. Perhaps so. But there is another supremely important element that enters in here, and Newsweek touches on it in the article's concluding sentence: ". . . for the husband who has lost his family or for the wife without her children, that task of recreation may require a supreme act of will—more will, indeed, than is required to insure that the 'impossible' does not happen."

The Great Question

The question of whether the world's aspirations will be served by democratic freedom or the totalitarian state can only be resolved by the use of every national resource of brains and effort and the fullest cooperation between every segment of our society—including, above all, cooperation between government and business.

That is the view of M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil of New Jersey. He amplifield it by saying this: "Businessmen are only too often overly antagonistic to government—and equally, those in government have found it politically useful to harass business. Our primary problems are now global in scope. They are altogether too vast for government or business corporations to resolve alone. To meet the demands for the cold war, clearly a working partnership between business and labor and government is needed."

There will always be differences of policy and opinion between these three groups. But they can and must be arbitrated without imperiling the national interest—and even the national survival—in this time of an ominous hardening of the cold war.

Mr. Rathbone also said that the question is how to do what is "necessary in the area of public policy and at the same time maintain freedom of enterprise and decision in private business." This is a goal that must be given support by all of us if we are to remain a free nation.

Polio Protection Is Not Required To Start School

The vaccination of children against paralytic polio will not be a compulsory requirement for enrollment into elementary and secondary schools this September, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state health director.

According to an opinion of the state attorney general, said the director, the new law requiring compulsory polio vaccination as a requisite to admission to public and private schools does not become effective until regulations for its enforcement are adopted by the State Board of Public Health.

Dr. Merrill said the proposed regulations will be ready for board action at its December 8 meeting in Berkeley. If adopted at that meeting, the law would go into effect some time in January, and vaccination would become a requirement for school enrollment thereafter.

Students that are already admitted this year will be required to give evidence of immunization against polio when they come up for re-enrollment, and should prepare now for this requirement.

"It would be a shame," said the director, "for parents to delay this protection for their children. An unprotected school child — or parent for that matter — could be crippled by polio before the law goes into effect."

In general, the compulsory vaccination law will apply to all pupils, child and adult, enrolled in school from kindergarten through junior college.

While the law does not cover child care centers and parent cooperative nursery schools, Dr. Merrill strongly urges that vaccination against paralytic polio be an enrollment requirement, since this pre-school period is the best time to give these children protection.

New Wholesale Liquor Concern Builds In S.S.F.

H. Berman and Co., wholesale liquor distributors, this week announced the awarding of a contract to the A. S. Holmes Company of Oakland for the construction of a modern single story automated warehouse and office facility in South San Francisco.

According to Henry E. Berman, president of the distributing firm, the construction will get under way immediately at a site of approximately three acres, in the Utah Industrial Tract, just off Bayshore Highway in South San Francisco. When complete, the complex will involve 54,000 square feet of building, offices and sales facilities.

In announcing the expansion move, Mr. Berman pointed out that his firm's business has nearly doubled in the 18 months since it succeeded the A. K. Thanos Company.

"This distribution center," Berman added, "expresses our confidence in the future growth of our business and our market. It will enable us to render the fastest possible and most efficient service to the over 6,000 licensees in the Bay and Peninsula areas."

DC Man Given Top Promotion By S. F. Spice-Coffee Firm

H. H. Baker, a Daly City resident, has been promoted from general office manager to the post of controller of the Schilling Division of McCormick and Company, San Francisco, according to Robert C. Crampton, vice-president and general manager.

Baker succeeds E. Clayton Shelhoss, who has been promoted from controller to regional sales manager. Shelhoss, a resident of San Mateo, will have supervision of a territory including northern California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and Utah.

Baker has been associated with McCormick and Company for 36 years and is a member of the board of directors. He transferred to the Schilling division in 1947 and has served as division secretary for the past eight years.

New Uniforms For Safety Patrols, Drivers Warned

Schools are opening now and next week and members of the school safety patrols will be helping their classmates cross streets safely at intersections near schools throughout northern California.

Motorists will readily recognize members of the safety patrols as many will be wearing the new yellow plastic helmets which are now an official part of the uniform.

Yellow overseas caps, which have been the official headgear of the patrols for many years, will continue to be used by many patrols. White Sam Browne belts will also be worn by patrol members as they are now included in the official uniform.

Motorists are urged by the California State Automobile Association to be on the alert for the boys and girls of the school safety patrols and to cooperate with them as they stand guard at school crossings.

Often youngsters are not sufficiently aware of traffic dangers, especially those who are going to school for the first time. The motorist should watch out for these youngsters, says the CSAA, many of whom are just learning the fundamentals of traffic safety.

A safety poster on the theme, "School's Open — Drive Carefully" is being distributed by the CSAA and will soon appear on telephone and light poles near schools throughout California and Nevada.

LINDA MAR POTLUCK LUNCH

The executive board of the Linda Mar Parent-Teachers association will be hosts at a potluck luncheon for the teachers of Linda Mar School Thursday, Sept. 7 to welcome the teachers back, for the 1961-62 school year.

SF STATE RECORD ENROLLMENT OF 12,750 STUDENTS FOR 63RD YEAR, 700 OVER LAST YEAR

An estimated 12,750 students —roughly 700 more than last year — are expected to enroll when SFSC enters upon its 63rd year of progress September 15. The year old campus residence halls expect maximum occupancy of 400 men and 400 women students.

The new $275,000 campus bookstore will be opened for the first time. Some 120 additions and replacements to the faculty will enter upon their first semester's association with the all time record student body.

Many of the new faculty hold the highest academic degrees as well as having varied practical off-campus experience. The chairmanship of the newly created Division of Humanities, Language and Literature will be held by a new member of the faculty family, Dr. Baird Whitlock, formerly with Case Institute in Cleveland. Dr. Whitlock holds degrees from Rutgers University and the University of Edinburgh.

Dr. Daniel D. Feder, formerly dean of students and professor of psychology at the University of Denver, will assume the chairmanship of the Division of Psychology. Dr. Alexander Capurso, director of music at Syracuse University, will join the Creative Arts Division.

A full-time California resident student will be required to pay a material and service fee of $38 and a student body fee of $10 for each semester. A part-time student taking six or fewer units of work will pay a total of $21.50.

Registration will be held in the Main Gymnasium from 7:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on September 15 and 16. Under graduate applications are no longer being accepted. Graduate applications are being accepted and inquiries should be directed to Dean of Admissions, 1600 Holloway street, San Francisco.

Unemployed Will Get Benefit Checks While Retraining For Jobs In New Fields Of Work

Unemployed workers now will be able to receive unemployment insurance payments while being retrained to fit themselves for new jobs.

Under amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Code passed by the 1961 Legislature and signed by Governor Edmund G. Brown, effective September 15, an unemployment insurance claimant is relieved of the obligation to be available for work and seek work if he is undergoing a course of retraining to fit himself for new work.

The retraining benefits are described under Article 1.5, Sections 1255 through 1273 of the Code.

The purpose of the amendments, submitted to the 1961 Legislature as Senate Bill 20 with the backing of Governor Brown and Employment Director Irving H. Perluss, is stated under Section 1266 of the bill: "Experience has shown that the ability of a large number of the population of California to compete for jobs in the labor market is impaired by advancement in technological improvements and the widespread effects of automation and relocation in our economy.

"It is the policy of this State to assist such individuals, by providing unemployment compensation or extended duration benefits during a period of retraining to fit them for new jobs and thus avoid their being forced to remain in a job classification where work opportunities no longer exist or are diminishing."

"It is interesting to note in this connection," Perluss said, "that California is ahead of all other states and, in fact, ahead of the national administration, which has introduced similar retraining legislation currently pending in Congress."

The policy of the Department of Employment under the new legislation will be to make retraining benefits available potentially to any individual who has been displaced from his job, and for whom reasonable employment opportunities do not exist or are substantially diminished.

"It makes sense to offer a man, whenever practical, the opportunity to be retrained for a new job whereby he can support himself," Perluss said, "rather than to leave him with no alternative but to exhaust his unemployment insurance benefits because there are no job opportunities calling for his old skill."

Trained job placement interviewers of the Department of Employment will make determinations of potential eligibility for retraining benefits. The claimant must be enrolled in an approved course of instruction for an occupation or skill for which there are reasonable opportunities for employment in the labor market, and he must submit with each weekly unemployment insurance claim a certification that he is enrolled in and satisfactorily pursuing the retraining course.

Perluss emphasized that the Department "will not sit back and wait for displaced workers to apply for retraining but will actively promote the program and seek out workers for retraining." The Department of Employment is working now, he said, with the Divisions of Vocational Rehabilitation and Apprenticeship Standards to establish suitable training courses.

"This service to workers will not stop there, however," Perluss said. "In addition to considering the individual for retraining, the Department of Employment will make every effort to place him in a new job."

New Vets Loan Law To Aid Applicants

San Mateo County Veterans Service Officer Floyd D. Granger announced this week that California veterans who filed for Cal-Vet home "refinancing" loans before July 2, 1957 are being contacted by the State Department of Veterans Affairs for favorable action on their applications under a new law.

Senate Bill 1023 (Gibson) was passed by the recent session of the California Legislature and signed into law by Governor Edmund G. Brown, to take effect next September 15. It amends the Military and Veterans Code to permit the Department of Veterans Affairs to use 20 percent of available Cal-Vet funds to make refinancing loans to those who filed refinance applications prior to July 2, 1957.

Refinancing has been banned since that date, by action of the Legislature, and the ban still applies to any refinance applications filed since that date.

MANY STUDENTS "GO TO PRISON" TO GAIN KNOWLEDGE, STUDY FOR MASTERS AT CAL MED FACILITY

The California Medical Facility, the only state institution of its type in the nation, more and more is proving an endless font of knowledge for budding criminologists, sociologists and psychologists — as well as chaplains, and penal and mental health administrators.

In fact, almost 60 students from area universities owe their degrees to field experience gained at the prison-hospital.

Included have been master's degrees candidates from the Berkeley and Davis campuses of the University of California, according to Supt. Dr. William C. Keating, Jr.

Other students came from Sacramento State College, Berkeley's Pacific School of Religion, and the San Anselmo Theological Seminary. One student, an intern in medicine and psychiatry, even came to the Medical Facility from the Medical College of Virginia.

Subjects studied also have included social welfare, clinical psychology, public administration, recreation, correctional social work, religion, and hospital administration, said Dr. Keating.

Last year the institution also played host to a National Institute of Mental Health project in which six master's degree candidates from the Berkeley camus spent an entire school year in field training under supervision.

The six students, including one woman, worked day-by-day with prison inmates before receiving their degrees last spring.

Beginning September 15, another NIMH program will get underway, said Dr. Keating. Eight students from Berkeley this time will "enter prison" to complete degree requirements.

Starting in January, the prison-hospital opens its doors to professional studies by members of the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, Dr. Keating said.

The commission is a public agency organized under the Western Regional Education Compact to promote interstate cooperation in Western higher education, according to its program coordinator, Dr. Jerome Levy of Boulder, Colo. Its membership includes key figures from mental health programs in the 13 Western states.

Dr. Levy this month visited the Medical Facility to lay groundwork for setting up a staff development program for commission members, said Dr. Keating.

Under the proposed program, training at Vacaville would acquaint members with selected well-established — as well as new — approaches to patient care in California institutions.

The Interstate Commission is sponsored under a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health. Training at the Medical Facility comes under a recently approved three-year plan for staff development for state mental hospitals, state schools, and hospitals for the retarded, throughout the West.

West Coast advisory members of the commission include John W. Baker, supervisor, psychiatric social services, Washington State Department of Institutions; Dr. William R. Conte, supervisor, Division of Mental Health, Washington State; and Robert W. Hayes, business administrator, Pacific State Hospital, Pomona.

Also included are Dr. Maxwell Jones, director of education and research, Oregon State Hospital; Ruth White, director of nursing services, Neuropsychiatric Institute, University of California Medical Center, Los Angeles; and several U. S. Public Health Service consultants.

Other projects are planned, and studywise it promises to be a busy year at the Medical Facility. When asked about this, Dr. Keating grinned and made an interesting observation.

"The next time you hear someone say he has been to prison, you had better stop, look and listen," said Dr. Keating.

"After all," he added, "that man might only have gone there to study."

Dorris Is Named To Head Crocker Anglo DC Bank

Louis H. Dorris has been named assistant vice president and manager of Crocker-Anglo National Bank's future Skyline Plaza office in Daly City, and Larry W. Dickinson has been appointed assistant manager, it was announced by President Paul E. Hoover.

Located in the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center, in the Westlake area of Daly City, the Crocker-Anglo banking unit is scheduled to open for business next month and will be Crocker-Anglo's 58th office in the Bay area.

Dorris was born and educated in Oakland and had eight years' banking experience there prior to World War II. After serving overseas with the U. S. Air Force for three years during the war, Dorris joined Crocker-Anglo at the end of 1945 as head teller at the Market-Jones office in San Francisco. In 1952 he was named assistant manager at the bank's Marina District office where he served until 1959, when he was promoted to assistant vice president and manager of the Fillmore office in the same city. Dorris continued in that capacity until he received his current assignment at the new Skyline Plaza office.

Stop, Look . . . and Miss 'Em!

VACATION'S OVER, SCHOOL season begins soon for more than 3,000,000 children in California. And where there are children, there is special need for the motorist to be alert. Miss Carol Lane, travel authority for Shell Oil Company, reminds motorists: "The lives of the school children are in YOUR hands. Their thoughts may still be on vacation fun." To parents, she suggests: (1) Show your children the SAFEST route to school. (2) Review the procedure at traffic signs, signal lights, intersections; both guarded and unguarded. (3) Set a good safety example yourselves — all year.

Feature Of Eighth Annual Flower Show To Be Arrangements, Part Of Golden Jubilee Celebration

By
MRS. EDMUND KOHLAUF
(Daly City Garden Club)

One of the features of the Eighth Annual Flower Show of the Daly City Garden Club to be held Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the War Memorial Community Center will be a division on flower arranging.

This division will include a variety of categories with awards going to winners in each.

Throughout history, people have loved flowers and have used them to decorate their homes.

ORIENTAL KNOW HOW

In the old Chinese culture can be found beautiful samples of flower arrangements which used many of the materials used in today's arrangements. Some of the containers are rare pieces of art and can be found in famous art collections.

Flower arranging played an important role in Japanese history. This highly developed art was practiced in the temples and continues as an important part of every day life in the Japan of today.

Dorothy Muller, Daly City, Weds Local Fire Captain In San Mateo Ceremonies

Fire Captain and Mrs. Elwyn H. Greenstrand, who were married in San Mateo, August 26, left their Daly City residence, last Friday night, for a ten day honeymoon trip to Wenatchee, Wash.

The Daly City couple were married by Rev. Richard King at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. George Young, 1735 Church St., San Mateo at 1 p.m., Saturday, August 26.

The bride, formerly Miss Dorothy Muller, was attractively gowned in a beige cotton lace sheath with matching jacket. She wore pearls and accessories to match her bridal costume and carried a bible and a beautiful spray of white orchids. She is the daughter of Mrs. Adeline Kosse.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Harriet Waugh, the groom's sister, who served as matron of honor. Richard Waugh, the groom's brother-in-law, was his best man.

Following the wedding ceremony the bride and groom were honored with a reception held at the Young residence in San Mateo. The newlyweds will make their home at 70 Oaklawn Drive, Apt. 14, when they return from their honeymoon.

The groom is a captain on the staff of the Daly City Fire Department and the bride is employed in San Francisco at the Emporium Department Store.

700 Cub Scouts Of Daly City-Colma Areas To Participate In Annual Harvest Fair Event

Cub Scouts in the Lake Merced District of the San Francisco Council, Boy Scouts of America, 700 of whom reside the Daly City area, will develop plans at weekly den meetings in September for the "Harvest Fair" to be conducted at the end of this month. Boys of Cub Scout age, eight thru ten years, will be invited with their parents to take part in the activities.

The "Harvest Fair" will be held in school yards, gymnasiums, church basements, and community centers where Packs meet regularly.

Some Packs holding "Harvest Fairs" are: Cub Scout Pack 62, at George Washington School, Ray Garcia (JU 6-2902), cubmaster; Cub Scout Pack 63, Westlake Club House, Herb Perluss (PL 5-9317), cubmaster; Cub Scout 92, at Latter-day Saints Church, Harold Jenson (JU 6-0428), cubmaster; Pack 184, at Colma School, Bob Dumont (PL 6-1651), cubmaster.

Pack 245, at Woodrow Wilson School, Robert Stone (PL 5-8645), cubmaster; Pack 248, at Fernando Rivera School, Irving Blackfield (PL 6-0355), cubmaster; Pack 261, at Holy Angels Hall, Robert Dennis, Sr. (PL 6-3482), cubmaster; Pack 343, Westlake Park Club House, Robert Pedersen (PL 5-0103), cubmaster; Pack 347, Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall, Julio Figueroa (PL 6-3476), cubmaster; Pack 350, Vista Grande School, Martin Smith (JU 4-6835), cubmaster.

During the weekly meeting of the den, which comprises a small number of Cub Scouts who live near each other and generally play together after school, the members will plan their part in the "Harvest Fair." They decide what they will do for a side-show act, or the booth and exhibit they will set up.

Each Cub Scout may enter one "animal" in the livestock show and many Cub Scouts will either bring their animal pets or make a stand-up cardboard cut-out "animal." Blue ribbons go to the Cub Scout "farmers" exhibiting the best pig, sheep, cow, horse, chicken, duck or turkey.

DENS VIE IN SIDE SHOWS

The Cub Scout Dens vie with each other for the most picturesque side-shows of their fair. These may include take-offs on the bearded lady, the fat lady, or the strong man (with boxes to simulate iron weights).

Each Den sets up a try-your-skill booth that includes skills such as throwing bean bags into scoring holes cut out on a cardboard pig, or toss darts at a plywood duck with point scores marked on the cutout, and tossing a ring onto the tail of a make-believe cow.

Cub Scout ingenuity knows no limits when the Cub Scouts make their peep-show boxes out of shoe boxes. One such peep hole labeled "The Big Slipper" contains a banana peel.

The "Harvest Fair" will have some contests for Cub Scouts, neighborhood boys of Cub Scout age, and their parents. These may include a tug of war, chariot race, corn-shelling contest, a hog-calling contest, human wheelbarrow, or other audience participation stunts.

PARENTS PARTICIPATE

Parents of Cub Scouts get into the fun by contributing unneeded items from home for the "white elephant" sale, with the proceeds going to the Cub Pack's treasury. Other fund raising devices for the unit at the "Harvest Fair" are a home-made cake sale, refreshment booth, and a home-made candy stand.

In preparation for their "Harvest Fair" Cub Scouts arrange a visit to a county fair, farm, truck garden, dairy farm, nursery, or creamery. They learn what fruits and vegetables are harvested in their part of the country. These visits acquaint the Cub Scouts with the nearby countryside and what they learn there contributes to their growing up.

Lockheed's Method Of Subcontracting Helps Many States

SUNNYVALE — When a missile or satellite contract is awarded to a firm in California, it can relieve unemployment in areas as widely dispersed as Maine and Hawaii, Florida and Alaska.

One such firm, Lockheed Missiles and Space Comapny, today reported that in 1960 it awarded nearly half a billion dollars in subcontracts to 6,414 firms in 46 states. This geographically spread work on space equipment provided jobs for thousands of workers in more than two-thirds of the areas listed as labor surplus by the U. S. Department of Labor.

"Lockheed watches the surplus labor listings closely and makes a continuing effort to award contracts in areas where the need is greatest," Harry W. Kohl, director of procurement for the missile and space company, said. "When compatible with the requirements of our missile and satellite programs, we try to place work with smaller firms in those areas."

September Is Month To Plant, Renovate Lawns

A cool, clipped carpet of green is the nicest thing that can happen to a gardener. It makes up for any lack of color; and what if the garden does have a few ragged edges? With a nice lawn to live with you can stand almost anything.

The well-groomed lawn is not a conspicuous sight in most neighborhoods, however. Sad to relate, many gardeners seem never to find the right combination of effort and know-how that produces the cool, clipped look mentioned above.

Look at your own lawn this month. Is it everything you'd like it to be? Is it worth even trying to renovate? With many a run-down lawn, the best method of renovation is complete renewal. And September is the month to start a new lawn.

The first big step in lawn planting is to work up a proper seedbed. This is a crucial time for your future enjoyment of the lawn — a time when too many gardeners fall short.

It is not enough merely to turn the soil and work it over. You have this golden opportunity to work in humus, and once the lawn is planted, you'll never have it again. If you are using a power tiller, as recommended by the California Association of Nurserymen, use it to turn under a load of steer manure, peat and compost. You really can't oversupply a lawn seedbed in these precious commodities.

Using the back of a rake or board, rough level the seedbed, remembering that the gentlest of slopes is better than a perfect level. Then soak the area to its saturation point and let it settle to reveal high and low spots which need added grading. When the seedbed will settle no more, it is ready to plant.

Here you should stop and remind yourself that there is no such thing as a bargain lawn seed buy. Cheap seed mixes invariably have far fewer seeds and less coverage per pound than the better mixtures. Let your nurseryman recommend a proper mix. Use a spreader to insure even coverage, rake lightly to cover seed with soil, and top the newly sown seed with about one fourth inch of fine peat. You have only now to water and wait. Use the finest spray and never let the seed bed dry out. Your carpet of green will soon be forthcoming.

UNIT SEEKS HEART TROUBLE BEFORE DAMAGE OCCURS

A compact electronic unit on wheels simultaneously records 12 different types of information about heart function and may spot trouble early before actual heart damage occurs.

Known as the Heart Function Analyzer, the unit was specially designed and built by the Telecomputing Corporation with the collaboration of Louis Fields. It has been donated by the firm to Dr. Clarence Agress, UCLA Medical School heart investigator, through the Los Angeles County Heart Association.

The new weapon in the battle against heart disease is a 2x4x 3½ (feet) mobile unit that can be wheeled into a laboratory or to a patient's bedside. Such sources of information as heart sounds, electrocardiogram, pulse pressure and frequency analysis of heart mechanical activity are recorded simultaneously. Research with the device is being carried out primarily at the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Center.

A small microphone placed on the chest just above the subject's heart picks up information recorded by the machine. This information is translated into 12 tiny light beams, which play upon a light sensitive roll of paper, and is thus recorded permanently for analysis by the investigators.

Emphasis in the investigative program for which the machine was tailored is on lowfrequency vibrations. These reflect activity of the heart muscle itself as well as the valve sounds which dominate the usual audible range of the stethoscope and the standard phonocardiogram.

Experiments to date have demonstrated the new analysis system can pick up many subtle changes in heart function not apparent in conventional electrocardiograms. It has also demonstrated an increased accuracy of 22 per cent over the electrocardiogram in detecting coronary disease.

Children Must Be Educated In Traffic Safety

"As school re-opens, every parent of school-age children in this community will have some homework to do. This is homework for which the reward is not diplomas, but the safety of their youngsters," Dr. Albert H. Domm said recently.

The doctor, a leading child safety spokesman and medical director for the western home office of the Prudential Insurance Co., advised local parents to educate their children on traffic safety.

"Motorists are being warned to drive carefully as youngsters go back to school. Children must also bear their share of responsibility by obeying pedestrian and bicycle safety rules," Dr. Domm said.

Children who cross the street without checking the signal or traffic, play in the street, walk out from between parked cars or cross a driveway without looking first cause accidents as easily as careless drivers, the medical director warned.

"It is not enough for us to say 'be careful' as they leave the house in the morning. We must teach the rules of traffic safety thoroughly, not only by word, but by example. If we break the rules while driving or walking, what can we expect from our children?," he asked.

Dr. Domm also warned parents to instruct their children never to accept rides from strangers.

"Don't just tell them not to do something, explain why they shouldn't. A 'no' from a parent, unaccompanied by an explanation, might arouse curiosity in a child," he pointed out.

Pre-school-age children should also be taught to be wary of the hazards of traffic. This includes learning that a green light does not guarantee safety.

He urged civic and community groups to join the campaign to protect children from fatal and injurious accidents as they trek back to school.

Cala Foods Inc. Takes Over DC's Spotlite Market

The new owners of George Glass' Spotlite Market near the hilltop at Mission and Hillside in Daly City took over the management and actual operation of this modern super-market last Friday.

The new owners are the Cala Foods Inc., supermarket operators of San Francisco, who are now extending their chain of stores into San Mateo county. Another Cala Foods supermarket will be erected shortly in the Pacific Manor area of Pacifica. It will be located on the Coast Highway between Manor and Avalon drives.

Heading the Cala Foods markets are Edward and John Cala, both thoroughly experienced in all departments of food merchandising. They have been in the business of providing foodstuffs for the public all their adult lives.

Cala Foods Inc. was organized by the Cala brothers more than six years ago. They now operate several big supermarkets in San Francisco. Whether they will extend their new operations in San Mateo county to other communities besides Daly City and Pacifica is a matter for future developments, they said.

"There will be no physical change in the immediate future at the Spotlite market which is big, modern and bright right now," the brothers said. "Also," they stressed, "we intend to retain the same personnel that has so willingly and efficiently been serving the shoppers of this area under the management of Mr. Glass."

"Because of our experience in buying for several large market operations we feel that we shall be in a position to offer shoppers a wide selection of the best quality food merchandise at the Spotlite.

"Due to the fact we are a chain operation closely supervised by us, as partners, we are certain we can offer as fine an advantage in food selections and prices as any market in the Bay area," they said.

Glass constructed the Spotlite Market in 1956 and has operated it ever since it opened its doors. Prior to that time he was associated with the Hilltop Market.

"I do not intend to lose my contacts with all my friends and business acquaintances in the Daly City area," Glass said. "It would like to express my sincere appreciation to my customers and friends for the wonderful patronage they have given me during the past 12 years."

Jewish New Year Begins Sept. 10, Yom Kippur 20th

The holiest period for Jews throughout the world this year begins at sundown, September 10, with the observance of Rosh Ha-shono, the New Year. This holy day issues in a ten-day period of prayers and reflection in which Jews re-evaluate the past year and look ahead to the coming year. The period ends with Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, on Wednesday, September 20.

Rosh Ha-shono is observed by Orthodox and Conservative Jews for two days, and by most Reform Jews for one day. All three branches of Judaism observes Yom Kippur beginning with the traditional prayer, Kol Nidrei, at sundown September 19, followed by all-day fasting and worship in the synagogue.

The new year will be marked on the calendar, according to Jewish tradition, as 5722. In synagogues throughout the world, the Shofar, ram's horn, will sound the call to conscience or Jews to reflect upon past deeds and to prepare religiously for the days ahead. The worshipper is called upon to re-evaluate his own life and re-interpret God's commandments in more positive ways during the coming year.

In some homes during Rosh Ha-shono at meal time, children dip pieces of bread or apple into honey as a symbol of hope for a sweet year.

Yom Kippur is a time devoted to penitence and soul-searching of the individual conduct. The ten-day period of worship in the synagogue ends with a final blast from the ram's horn.

A typical passage from the Union High Holiday Prayerbook is:

As we thank Thee for the joys of life, so we praise Thee for its sorrows. Many burdens have been laid upon us; many tears have furrowed our cheeks; many tender ties have been broken. With a father's love dost Thou discipline us, that we may learn to understand life's holy purpose.

With deep humility we approach Thee, O our God, at this sacred hour. May we listen reverently to its solemn admonition. Give us the will to serve Thee with singleness of heart, so that, as we grow older in years, we may grow stronger in wisdom, broader in charity and more steadfast in faith.

Dr. Tukeman Opens Another Office In The Skyline Plaza

In order to provide better and more convenient treatment facilities for the people of the area, Dr. Cyril S. Tukeman, dentist with offices in the Broadmoor Shopping Center, is opening another office at 50 Skyline Plaza.

Dr. Tukeman will operate both offices. He said he felt the two offices would make it possible for the younger patients in both areas to walk to and from their dental appointments.

The dentist, who is a graduate of the University of California, started his practice in this area about four years ago. He holds degrees from the Manchester University in England, a Bachelor of Science degree from the U. C. College of Pharmacy and is a graduate of the University of California College of Dentistry. He also served in the Royal Air Force of Great Britain.

'Little Stroke' May Be Early Warning Of Serious Attack

A "little stroke" may be an early warning signal from the body of a possible serious attack, according to Dr. Paul Sanazaro, associate professor of medicine at the San Francisco Medical Center of the University of California.

"In almost half of the instances of the common type of stroke," says Dr. Sanazaro, "there are these warnings, these premonitories, which take the form of the so-called 'little stroke.' A passing dizziness, a thickness of speech for a few hours, a brief stomach upset, a weakness of an arm or leg—these are some of the usual symptoms.

It is, of course, quite common for almost everyone to experience momentary dizziness or lightheadedness in certain instances, and this should never be construed as a forewarning of serious brain vessel disease, says the U. C. researcher. Each individual should have a health adviser, and should be guided in assessing the significance of his symptoms entirely by what the doctor finds on objective examination.

Some promising medical advances in the prevention and treatment of strokes will be discussed by the University Explorer, Sunday, September 10, over the CBS radio network.

Entitled "Stroke Signals," the program will be heard at 9:15 a.m. over KCBS, San Francisco; KNX, Los Angeles, and other stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

LIGHT FOOT IT ON GATE SPAN OR IT WILL SLIM WALLET

It doesn't pay to speed on the Golden Gate Bridge. Over 1400 arrests were made on the big span from January through June according to a summary of accident causing traffic violations released today by Captain T. F. Parnow, commanding officer of the San Rafael area of the California Highway Patrol.

The bridge is constantly covered by the Highway Patrol which is charged with the law enforcement on the San Francisco-Marin crossing.

Most of the arrests, 785, occurred on the bridge structure proper with 391 violators being cited on the three approaches: Marina, Funston and Lombard.

Communist Bloc Can Never Take Over World Control, Knorr Tells Watchtowers

"There is no need for the Democratic Western bloc of nations to fear that the Communistic bloc will take universal control of the earth." So stated Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watchtower Society, before a packed audience at San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

Knorr, who was the principal speaker, climaxed the United Worshipers Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses. He assured his listeners that, "none of the national blocs will gain world domination, no matter which bloc dominates outer space.

The universal rule, "Knorr added, "including domination of the whole earth, has already been conferred on God's choice of ruler, mankind's Savior, Jesus Christ. So in loyalty to the 'King of Eternity' Jehovah's Witnesses unite under God's Kingdom, no matter in what lands they are found."

Knorr revealed that Jehovah's Witnesses are now found in 180 lands as compared with 53 lands in 1941.

According to Harold E. Casperson, presiding minister of the Daly City Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, "we received much practical instruction in Bible education that will help all in the local congregation to apply Bible principles more fully in our every day lives. This information will also be used to help us be of greater assistance to our friends and neighbors in Bible teaching."

Casperson stated that many new publications were released at the assembly. The outstanding release which came as a surprise to the entire assemblage was the "New World Translation" of the complete Bible in one volume.

Unfair Trade Complaints

To expedite action on complaints of unfair trade practices, small businessmen can now file their applications through the Small Business Administration field office located at 525 Market Street, San Francisco, California, under an agreement announced jointly today by the SBA and the Federal Trade Commission.

TV and Radio

By MONA BAKER

In a reminiscing mood, relating anecdote after anecdote of personal experiences during his long and distinguished dramatic career, Joseph Cotton met the press in an informal press conference held between taping of his shows at KGO-TV's studios. The debonair star is the new host on Channel 7's "Joseph Cotton Theatre," which is seen Monday through Saturday at 11 p.m. He personally selected the 25 outstanding movies to be shown and comments on the plots and stars for each film.

Judging by the many stories he told which held the interest of the various press representatives; we believe this personal touch by such a distinguished star adds immeasurably to the program.

Particularly well known for his film career, Mr. Cotton's background also includes stage, radio and television. His debut into television was in 1954 when he appeared in "The High Green Wall," followed by other programs. Recently he was signed as special guest star for the new "Bus Stop" series and also guest star for the fall, 1961, opener of "Wagon Train."

★ ★ ★

Exciting news from KGO-TV too, as well as a fine public service gesture, is the announcement that the station will televise Bay Area high school football in a regular Saturday series, beginning September 16. Plans for the new series include featuring from time to time school choirs, bands, art exhibits and other accomplishments of the participating schools as well as reporting the play-by-play action of the games. Scheduled for September 30 from 10:30 a.m. to 12 Noon is the game between Jefferson and Westmoor.

★ ★ ★

TV DATES TO MARK ON YOUR CALENDAR: Two award-winning programs return to KRON-TV September 11: "Assignment Four" will be seen at 6:30 p.m., followed at 7 p.m. by the popular science show, "Science in Action," which begins its 12th year on television.

Good news for the small fry is the announcement by KTVU that they will carry the delightful program "Kukla & Ollie," beginning the first week in October.

Over KQED, premiering this week is a new second addition of the outstanding children's series, "What's New," with double showings at 5 p.m. and 6 p.m.

CBS announces a record number of stations will carry their new biology course on "College of the Air," which will premiere on September 25 —a total of 176 stations will carry the course, which will offer college credit.

Redeemer's Church Changes Times Of Sunday Services

Time schedule change for Worship and Sunday School at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church effective September 10. The hours of worship will be changed to 9 and 10:30 a.m. and will correspond to the two Sunday Schools which will run at the same two hours.

It has long been evident from the Sunday School enrollment, which has doubled in the past year, that Our Redeemer's would need to find additional class room space. The least expensive solution is to use the present facilities "more than once" during the Sunday morning hours.

Children may register at either 9 or 10:30 a.m. A complete Sunday School with grades 3 year through Adult Bible Class is planned.

If very resident of Los Angeles were to seek park space at the same time, there would be about 218 persons crowded into every acre of every park in the city.

DC Garden Club Show, To Mark Golden Jubilee

The Daly City Garden Club will feature a beautiful flower show—the eighth annual, as a part of the Daly City fiftieth Anniversary Celebration, (A Century of Progress in Half the Time).

The show will be open to the public, Sunday, Sept. 10 and Monday, Sept. 11, from 11 o'clock a.m. to 8:30 o'clock p.m. Admission is free.

The show will be staged in the War Memorial Community Center, Alp and Mission Streets, Daly City.

Among exhibitors are: San Francisco Rose Society, El Camino Branch of the American Fuchsia Society, American Begonia Society, Dahlia Society of California, Cactus and Succulent Society of California, Friends of the Library, The Art Guild and Rod McLellan Nursery.

There will be exhibits of potted plants, cut flowers and floral arrangements.

The junior section covers entries by children from three to twelve years of age and a high school student section.

New Beginners Square Dance Class At SSF

John Strong, popular square dance caller, who calls for the Gingham Squares, announced a new beginner class in Square Dancing, sponsored by the South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department.

The class will meet Tuesday nights from 8 to 10:30 o'clock at Avalon School, Durado way, South San Francisco, starting Sept. 19.

Registration will begin on Sept. 12 with a Barn Dance and it will be free to the public. Registration will continue through the first three weeks of the class, Sept. 19, 26, and Oct. 3, and will be free the first night of attendance, after which the cost will be 75 cents per person.

Square dancing, not to be confused with folk dancing, is rapidly becoming America's favorite pastime, now being second only to bowling. Old-time dancing which consisted of much jumping and hopping is quite different from today's modern square dancing, which is executed more smoothly, and is usually danced to "popular" music, according to Strong.

The figures (steps) used, however, are much the same as in the original square dances, and are not difficult to learn. Once mastered, one may dance with practically any group and to any caller throughout the world.

For more information, call June Strong, JU 3-0619; Hart Kushner, JU 3-2249; Rose Lansing, PL 6-3642, or Verna Kendall, DI 3-6403.

By BOB SEXTON

(Junior Bowling Leagues to sign up for Winter Season on September 9.)

With the end of a fun-packed summer season that saw a host of new bowling enthusiasts take to the lanes to develop their skill with the ten-pins, the 1961-62 edition of the Westlake Bowl Junior Bowling program is about to be unwrapped.

With the inclusion of a certified resident instructor from the American Junior Bowling Congress and a greatly expanded and improved program, bowling this year is guaranteed to be better than ever.

The Bowl will continue its policy of providing a league for every skill level and interest as well as providing a wholesome and clean environment for its young patrons.

It's SPARE TIME at Westlake Bowl

By JAMES GREELISH

September 10 is the final day for entries in the Aid Retarded Children Tournament in which hundreds of prizes are to be awarded to San Francisco Bay Area bowlers. With more than 2,000 entries during the first three weeks, it is now expected that the entries will top the 5,000 mark. Since it is possible to qualify only once in a bowling center, many bowlers are trying their luck in the various centers and thereby become eligible for more than one prize. Charlie Lucas and Norma Baldelli led the Westlake qualifiers for the third week with Norma's 708 leading both divisions.

Primo Liberatore reports that with two additional teams, the 875 Men's Scratch League will be underway soon. The organizational meeting will be held Thursday, September 7, at 8 p. m.

The latest type of league to be organized here is a Sunday Evening 510 Mixed Scratch Trio which will bowl weekly at 7 p. m. Harriett McIntosh or Primo will be happy to accept entries from those interested.

For the past three seasons, the late Charlie Nocentini not only sponsored a team here but also bowled on it. His fondest desire was to have a bowling trophy to display in his grocery store. In the Petersen Point Trio League recently finished, his team won the third place trophy, but unfortunately Charlie died of a heart attack. He will be missed by many of his bowling friends. His teammates delivered the trophy to Charlie's widow last week.

Emily Drago and Mary Wright were the Powder Puff winners for August with Emily's 546 taking the Scratch Division and Mary's 582 high in the Handicap Division. Second places went to Marie Bacigalupi and Jackie Koehler.

The Winter Junior Program is off to a fine start after the awards banquet and summer roll-off. Coach Dick Truesdell is accepting registrations for the various leagues.

The San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce Sports and Youth Committee has taken on the sponsorship of a Junior League for the coming season. There will be a league in various bowling centers with a tournament scheduled at the conclusion of the leagues to determine the champions.

Squads have been scheduled for every night this week in the Second Annual Team Handicap Tournament which will run until October 15. It is anticipated that more than 200 teams will compete.

The Daly City Fiftieth Anniversary Committee held a champagne party at the Bowl last week to give the celebration a final boost before the official opening. President Bob St. Clair, members of the council and city and county dignitaries were on hand. As part of the week-long celebration, a bowling tournament will kick off at noon October 7.

Fish Hook and Boy, Hooked! Cop's Help Solves Weepy Case

It may have been only a little fish hook but its sharp barb was enough to cause a seven-year-old boy considerable pain and some salty tears when it became imbedded in his hand.

The fish hook and Roy Jensen, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jensen, of Pacifica, got together last Friday morning when Roy, very boy like, became enchanted with his father's fishing tackle.

Both Mom and Dad were away at work and baby sitter, Mrs. Marian B. Willoughby, called Pacifica police. She didn't know where to reach either parent so Police Dispatcher Madeline Nickerson sent Patrolman John P. Murphy out to use his inherited Irish wit.

Patrolman Murphy did all right and the boy ended up at Junipero Serra hospital, where the fish hook was removed, his pain eased, and danger of infection minimized.

DEPREDATION DEER HUNTS IN MONTEREY COUNTY SET

Two additional depredation deer hunts to relieve crop damage on ranches in southern Monterey county have been set by California's Fish and Game Commission upon the recommendation of the Department of Fish and Game.

The commission has authorized issuance of 75 either-sex permits for a hunt on the John P. Curtis ranch in Indian Valley, and 100 either-sex permits for a hunt on the Paul Aurignac ranch south of Ardo. The commission had previously approved issuance of 200 either-sex ermits for a depredation hunt on the Botts Brothers Ranch and Varian Ranch, which adjoins, near Bradley.

The three hunts will be held simultaneously during two periods of four days each. The first period will be from September 29 through October 2; the second period from October 6 through 9. Permits for each of the hunts will be divided between the two periods.

Permits for all three of the hunts will go on public sale, first come, first served, at 8 a. m. Saturday, September 16, at the fairgrounds in King City. Permit fee is $2. Applicants must be at least 16 years of age and possess a valid hunting license. Any licensed hunter may participate in these depredation hunts, even though he may previously have used his regular deer tages and his application for special hunts. Archery hunting will not be permitted.

The DFG points out that depredation deer hunts are very different from other special hunts authorized by the Fish and Game Commission. Under state law the department is required to issue a permit to any landowner to kill deer that are damaging property or crops. If the depredation involves 25 or more deer, the landowner may request the Department of Fish and Game to hold a depredation hunt in which the public has the opportunity to harvest a specified number of deer.

Multiple Dwelling Owners Must File With Air Control

Some 4,000 individuals and companies in the Bay Area who have previously registered with the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District as owners of multiple dwellings or operators of non-residential incinerators will receive secondary information forms this week.

Recipients will be requested to complete the information forms as directed and return immediately to the District's office, 1480 Mission street, San Francisco.

All information received will be compiled for further studies and to initiate steps leading to compliance with the District's Regulation 2, which controls the emissions from all industrial, commercial and institutional operations.

Under the regulation, all such operations, except for single and double unit dwellings, are required to be registered. Simple initial registration forms are available at most major fire stations and the District's offices, and should be obtained immediately.

"We know a vast number of individuals have not filed initial registration on their operations with the District. Nonregistration is a violation of Regulation 2, and should complaints be filed against those not registered, a factor of noncompliance will have already been established," said Benjamin Linsky, Air Pollution Control Officer for the six-county district.

"Why shouldn't the parking space in FRONT of their HOMES be reserved for family, relatives, friends and callers.

"I am sure if the police would enforce such action it would be appreciated by the majority of home owners.

Calif. Fish And Game Commission Sets 68-Day Waterfowl Season

A 68-day split waterfowl hunting season with a daily bag and total possession limit of five ducks and six geese has been set for most of the state by California's Fish and Game Commission. The Commission set separate seasons and limits for two specific areas of the state — the Tule Lake-Klamath Basin, bordering Oregon, and the area along the Colorado River bordering Arizona.

The first half of the general split season opens at noon on Saturday, October 14, and continues through Monday, November 20, a total of 38 days. After a three-week interval, the second half of the season opens at soon Saturday, December 9, and continues through Sunday, January 7, a total of 30 days.

The Tule Lake-Klamath Basin area will have a straight 75-day waterfowl season opening at noon Saturday, October 21, and continuing through Wednesday, January 3, with a duck bag limit of four per day and eight in possession.

The area immediately along the Colorado River will have a 68-day split duck season with a bag and possession limit of four and eight, but a separate 75-day goose season. First half of the Colorado River duck season will open at noon Saturday, October 7, and continue through Sunday, November 5. The second half opens at noon Friday, December 1, and continues through Sunday, January 7. The Colorado River goose season opens at noon Wednesday, October 25, and continues through Sunday, January 7.

In Fish and Game District 22, which includes the Imperial and Coachella Valleys and the Colorado River, only one Canada goose or its subspecies is permitted in the bag and no Canada geese or their subspecies may be taken after December 17.

Statewide the daily bag and total possession limit on geese is six, of which not more than three may be of the dark species. No Ross's geese may be taken.

Statewide no canvasback or redhead ducks may be taken, and only one wood duck and one hooded merganser are permitted in the daily bag and total possession limit.

On coots and gallinules, statewide, the bag and possession limit is 25, either separately or in the aggregate of both species.

The brant season is December 2 through January 30, with a bag and total possession limit of three. Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, including the opening day.

The jacksnipe season is December 2 through December 31, with a daily bag and total possession limit of eight, and with special shooting hours from sunrise to sunset, including opening day.

Shooting hours for ducks, geese, coots and gallinules are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, with the exception that no shooting is permitted until 12 noon on opening days of the season, including the second opening day of the split seasons.

Significant Percentages

Lately car manufacturers have made use of some pretty emphatic figures to acquaint car owners with the dangers of running on underinflated tires, one of them, according to the National Automobile Club, points out that a chronic 30 per cent underinflation will result in a 50 per cent shorter tire life. It is a combination of figures that should be worth reflecting upon.

LEARN BY DOING is the credo of the Pacifica Nursery school where pre-school children are prepared for their entrance into public school life. Here the camera caught four members of last year's class on a school cleanup job. They were being taught to paint, how not to slop and spill and how to use the brush properly although the paint was actually only soap and water. It cleaned up the safety fence frame and gave it a look of having just been painted.

COFFEE WELCOME BY PTA

The mothers of new students at Bayshore, Midway, and Garnet Robertson schools will be welcomed with coffee and cake by the Bayshore PTA. This will be held on the first day of school, Sept. 11. Mrs. Roy Reitz will be chairman of hospitality for the three schools that day. It is also the custom of the Bayshore PTA to present each teacher with a welcoming gift.

PACIFIC MANOR LAD HURT IN CLIFF FALL

Like any other young boy Peter Alhorn, 7, of 445 Esplanade Dr. Pacifica would have stopped to watch if he saw firemen rescuing some one from a cliff fall in a safety basket.

But, at 11 a.m., last Thursday Peter, who had ridden his bike too close to the edge of a cliff at the end of Monterey Rd., in Pacific Manor, was the one to get a ride up the steep, rocky wall in the rescue basket.

Peter tumbled some 100 to 150 feet down the cliff to the beach. A nearby fisherman put down his pole and eased him on the beach until help could arrive. Firemen promtly lowered a basket and lifted Peter to topside. He was then removed to the Medical Center where he was treated for abrasions and possible leg and arm fractures.

PACIFICA NURSERY PUPILS LEARN BY DOING, FALL TERM TO START SOON

Fall enrollments are now being accepted for the Pacifica Nursery School, Inc. (a parent participating organization). All interested parents are invited to a get-acquainted meeting at the nursery school, 610 Edgemar avenue, Pacific Manor, on Thursday, Sept. 7, at 8 p. m.

The school, located at present in quarters at the First Baptist Church of Pacifica, is a cooperative, non-profit, nonsectarian organization incorporated under the laws of California and is managed by an executive board elected by all members whose children are enrolled.

The school is also a part of the Adult Education Division of the Jefferson Union High School District. The Tuesday evening meetings are actually classes in the subjects of child development and feature films, group discussions, and numerous guest speakers present a variety of topics pertinent to the field of child guidance.

Your child will play under the guidance of a trained teacher and enjoy activities with paint, blocks, clay, puzzles, rhythms, stories and outdoor play with other pre-schoolers.
